

Workers' Compensation FAQs: An Introduction to Georgia's Workers' Comp Laws

In The Khaki Law Firm's newest blog series, we are answering the questions we frequently receive about Workers' Compensation Law in Georgia. More specifically, what exactly is workers compensation, when should you file a claim, and how The Khaki Law Firm can take the burden of the claims process off your shoulders.

1. What is Workers' Compensation? It is an accident insurance program that an employer pays on behalf of his or her employees. If an employee is injured or becomes ill on the job, workers compensation may provide that employee with medical, rehabilitation, and/or income benefits. This program is designed to support injured employees and enable them to return to

The Khaki Law Firm's Monthly Success Story

"Recently, I received notice that one of our client's backpay and monthly benefits had been recalculated. The client was only going to receive $12,000 in backpay plus $73 monthly benefits, but after talking to the Social Security Administration payment center, we were able to have his benefits recalculated. The client is now receiving $33,000 in back pay plus $782 monthly Medicare benefits!"
